Renewable Energy Networking Events

Renewable Energy Networks

The Phillip Riley Events network is committed to fostering connections and knowledge exchange within the renewable energy industry. Initially, these gatherings were small networks of like-minded professionals, but they have quickly evolved into major events (with long waitlists as we outgrow some of our favourite venues).

Today, we attract a growing number of engaged participants from across the Renewables and Energy sectors in Australia and New Zealand.

With the support of our sponsors, we're driving the renewable energy industry forward as an unstoppable force, offering a unique, free-to-attend opportunity to network across industry segments and professional expertise.

Phillip Riley believes The Future is Renewable and that future begins with the people powering the energy transition.

2026 SPONSORSHIP IS OPEN

We are now inviting sponsorship enquiries from the industry to support our 2026 calendar of events across all networks in Australia and New Zealand.

This year we are offering an enhanced opportunity for businesses to have your voice heard, your brand seen, and drive the conversations that matter, while ensuring you and your team don't miss-out on these sold-out events.

Themes to Explore in 2026

Operating Beyond the Project Lifecycle: Becoming Fully Functional

A forward-looking discussion on transitioning from project delivery to long-term asset management. Ideal for organisations focused on O&M innovation, digital operations, and extending value beyond construction.

Workforce Resilience: Managing Change Across a Rapidly Evolving Sector

Insights on how teams can adapt to technological disruption, policy shifts, and scaling pressures. This theme provides actionable methods for building resilient, agile teams – with a strong focus on wellbeing and continuous development.

The Economics of Transition: Balancing Growth, Cost, and Social Impact

A balanced exploration of commercial drivers, societal benefits, and community expectations. This theme helps organisations navigate the trade-offs between speed, cost efficiency, and equitable outcomes in renewable development.

Government Investment Trends: Where the Money Flows

A strategic look at federal and state funding priorities, incentives, and public-private partnerships shaping Australia and New Zealand's renewable energy pipeline. This topic helps organisations understand where capital is being directed – and how to align projects with government agendas for maximum impact.

Women in Energy

A focused discussion on gender equity, career progression barriers, and leadership opportunities for women in the energy sector. This theme highlights practical strategies for creating inclusive, future-focused workplaces that support diverse talent.

Market Volatility & Energy Prices: Managing Risk in Transition

An exploration of energy price fluctuations, global market pressures, and carbon credit dynamics. Sponsors gain insights into risk mitigation strategies, off-take security, and financial planning models essential for navigating an uncertain market landscape.

Public Perception & Media in Renewables: Shaping Trust

A deep dive into how public opinion, media narratives, and social licence influence project approvals, investment confidence, and community support. This theme equips organisations with frameworks for proactive communication and stakeholder engagement.

Career Longevity in the Renewable Sector

A workforce-focused topic addressing retention, upskilling, emerging career pathways, and preventing burnout. Sponsors benefit from insights into how to sustain high-performing teams across multiple project cycles in an evolving industry.

Generational Skills Development & Succession Planning

An examination of how organisations can bridge experience gaps, support knowledge transfer, and integrate diverse talent across generations. This topic offers practical tools for building future-ready teams and avoiding critical skills shortages.

ESG Value Statement*

Sponsoring the Renewable Energy Events Network provides organisations with an opportunity to demonstrate visible support for Australia's transition to a cleaner, more resilient energy future. While this sponsorship does not constitute formal ESG certification or assurance, many organisations choose to reference their involvement when reporting on environmental leadership, industry collaboration, and social impact.

Our events bring together leaders across renewable energy, policy, investment, and technology, creating a platform for knowledge exchange, capability-building, and constructive dialogue. Sponsors may also draw on their participation in our Women in Energy initiatives to highlight their commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion within the sector.

Any references to sponsorship within ESG, sustainability, or annual reporting should align with your organisation's chosen reporting frameworks and internal governance requirements.

*This statement is not Legally Binding. It is recommended that to seek independent expert advice on your companies eligibility for ESG Reporting benefits and obligations.
